PCEA Triangle Chapter Spring Golf Scholarship Tournament
The 25th Annual Don Mizelle Spring Golf Scholarship Tournament will be held this Friday on May 17, 2013 at the Riverwood Golf Club in Clayton, NC. Registration begins at 9:30 am with a shotgun start at 11:00 AM. The registration form is included in this newsletter.
The 2013 PCEA National Convention was held at the Crowne Plaza Riverfront Hotel from May 1 to May 4 in Jacksonville Florida. The Orlando Chapter did an excellent job of hosting this year’s convention and keeping the program in budget. There were a total of 52 attendees of this year’s convention and the weather was quite wet throughout the convention. The Orlando Chapter hosted two bowling outings for convention attendees.

There were three informative seminars on Friday morning. The first seminar was presented by STO the German company that pioneered the Exterior Insulation Finish System in Europe in the early 1950’s. This presentation covered the history and evolution of EIFS.

Chuck Sauls with the Orlando Chapter gave a presentation on Building Information Modeling and it’s current capabilities for estimating. Chuck reviewed a large commercial shopping center project starting with a virtual 3D interior and exterior tour of the project before the sitework had started. Chuck demonstrated how some basic estimating quantities can be extracted from the architect’s model to assist in preconstruction budgeting and performing building component clash detection before the building is constructed. The owner’s building maintenance staff will use the BIM model information to maintain the buildings systems after completion.

A field training representative from 3M put on a lunch and learn on fire stopping systems. Samples of the different types of fire stopping components were shown and a brief quiz was given on the basic principles of fire stopping. The highlight of this program took place outside the hotel’s parking garage where the presenter set fire to a metal stud wall assembly with a blow torch showing the effectiveness of the fire stopping materials resistance to the flames.
Saturday morning the annual breakfast business meeting took place. Saturday Evening was the awards banquet. Triangle Chapter President Wally Mills presented National Vice President Glenn Hessee with the Order Of Isosceles Award for his involvement with the Triangle Chapter and on the National level. The Orlando Chapter won the Bill Helms Chapter Of The Year award, The Triangle Chapter placed second. Melissa Swanson with the Catawba Valley Chapter won the Newsletter Of The Year award. Past National President Cebert White was awarded the Rudy Barnes National Estimator Of The Year Award. Past National President Lance Pollock passed the gavel to incoming National President Matt Solomon.

Many thanks to the Triangle Chapter, Mid-Atlantic Specialties and Talbert Building Supply for being Hospitality Sponsors for this year’s convention.
