New Construction Contractor Prequalification Requirements

New legislation took effect on October 1, 2015 to amend G.S. 143-135.8 by establishing specific procedural requirements for when and how local governments may prequalify construction contractors to bid on construction and repair projects.

The focus of the new requirements is to ensure that a prequalification process is conducted transparently using criteria that relate to the specific project being bid and which are applied objectively and fairly to all bidders. The new requirements also give bidders an opportunity to learn why they were denied prequalification and to appeal that denial. The changes went into effect on October 1, 2014, and apply to all contracts awarded on or after that date.
